more information

Divine Providence Training Center (DPTC) is an organization that focuses on sharing the gospel with others by pastoring indigenous Kenyan pastors. Education holds such power in human life and transformation, because it enables one person to share information with so many others. By educating pastors, they are empowering and enabling them to effectively share the bread of life with their own communities. When the pastors are fed the bread of life, they can start sharing the bread with their communities, and eventually their communities will start to feed one another. We, as Friends of DPTC, are honored to walk alongside DPTC enabling them in pastoring the pastors with our support.
